*I*nevitably my Irish heritage had to surface. Tir na N'og (pronounced "Tier nah Nohg") is Gaelic for "Land of the Youth". Irish legends and myths tell of a land where mortal time was suspended and everyone was young and beautiful. An idea well worth celebrating with an Old Vine Grenache...

Tir Na N'Og Old Vines Grenache is made from fruit sourced from old vine Grenache vineyards located both on McLaren Flat and up in the higher elevations around Blewitt Springs.

Its youthful character and wonderful intensity of flavor are courtesy of the magic of low yielding old Grenache vines. If you are a lover of Old Vine Grenache, this wine is for you.

2006 Tir Na N'Og Old Vines Grenache McLaren Vale

90pts "The purple-colored 2006 Old Vines Grenache reveals an attractive perfume of Asian spices, cedar, and black cherry. Smooth on the palate with no hard edges, this tasty Grenache is nicely layered and lengthy. Drink it over the next six years. Robert Parker's The Wine Advocate, Issue 181, Feb 2009 Tor Na N'Og (meaning Land of the Youth) is a brand owned by importer John Larchet to honor his Irish heritage." Robert Parker's Wine Advocate, Issue 181, Feb 2009

91pts "Lithe and distinctive for its orange peel accented black cherry and licorice flavors, lingering harmoniously on the fine-grained finish. Drink now through 2012." Wine Spectator, Dec 2008
